CRASH

CONTENTS

GAME THRILLS

Five power-packed pages of game thrills — more than ever before! On the Powertape: Astroclone (Hewson!) Sea Battles (Atlantis!) Skull & Crossbones demo (Tengen!) On the Run (Design Design!) Soccer Cup Quizmaster (Powertape!) and Pokémon Plus (gasp!) on your Code Masters tape: Phantomas, Dizzy, BMX Simulator and Fruit Machine Simulator Blimey!

PREVIEWS

We've scoured the length and breadth of the country to bring you early shots of Dominion, Weekly Races, Dirt Track Race, Stack Up and England Championship Special Well, actually the Post Office did all the fetching and carrying (a bit tortoise-like, weren't you?).

WIN A CONSOLE!

Lumiere! A Sega Master System console must be won! So must a copy of US Gold's Sega Game! And, don't forget, 20 copies of Guardiet on the Speccy!

LIVE CIRCUIT

Hewsonware's Lloyd (and Enor) with another pot-pouri of postal misfires! Plus, see the winning entry of our Jetman compo in this month's strip! And all the news, Hi-Fiers and Bug Box snottiest Murrah!

SAM PAGE

A sound sampler! A MIDI-type arrangement of a Nick Roberts Demo Disk! Golly, it's all happening on the Coupé front this month, isn't it?

DJ NICKO'S TIPS

Don't let yourself be beaten to a pulp — tackle the toughest in games with more tips, tricks and tactics from the DJ who actually hasn't done a gig for about six months (the clot!)

OPEN THE BOX!

Take the money! No, open the box! Yes, indeed open the box and discover a wealth of smash hit games now appearing in compilation form!

REVIEWS

Ooooo, dear! Most of the game prices have gone up (thanks, Norman!) so we're going to be a little bit tougher on the marking. So there. Games worth checking out this month include: MERCs, Shadow Demos and FBI 2

BACKPAGE

Good old almost legendary backpage, eh? Another month, another set of stupendous prizes up for grabs! Yippe! Win a brilliant remote-controlled All Terrain Vehicle and a year's supply of Zeppelins and Impulse gametes! Cripes!

GAME

thrills

This is all rather a bit special, isn't it? Two tapes packed with some real corkers! You've got your usual dose of mega-play action on the Powertape and a very special compilation put together by Code Masters featuring four of their top games! Okay, so it's all costing you an extra quid — but one measly pound for a Code Masters collector's item? Can't be bad, can it? Indeed not (that's why we're doing it all again next month). Yup, another extra-special compilation pack next month and news about the transformation CRASH is going to take at the start of the summer holidays! Hold onto your hats and hold tight for the ride of your life! Eyecoooo!

ASTROCLONE

● Hewson hit the aliens!

You want something big? You want something adventurous? You want something that'll keep you 'occupied' for ages? Well, come for a meal at Ludlow's curry house (loo paper shortage, ahoi!). However, if you want all that and something that gives you complete control of the galaxy, this is it! One of Hewson's classics — Astroclone!

Astroclone has three separate parts: a shoot-'em-up sequence, a strategic element and an adventure section. The idea of the game is to knock out all the Seiddab bases (in the adventure section) and shoot down Seiddab cruisers en route to the bases (arcade section). The strategic element of the game lies in choosing the route you take to achieve the overall aim.

You begin the game in a nice safe location, the Astroclone Assault Craft, in control of a Clone — you can get the 'feel' of Clone control in comfort before you begin the game itself.

On the floor is a square energy point. On the right-hand wall is an oxygen cylinder and a triangular computer console. You take off using the computer console (passing into space combat) and enter a stargate to reach the strategic phase. Move the Clone over to the console and you'll take off!

The stargate is shown as a yellow diamond at the top of the main display, but it may be off-screen sometimes. Fly your spacecraft forwards and upwards until the stargate appears and then fly over it. You're now in the...

A healthy Powertape or Code Masters tape will wing its way back to you!

overall progress of the game. It shows the location and strength of your forces and the Seiddab forces around each star sector. Sectors with your ship are coloured yellow, the current sector is white and Seiddab controlled sectors are green. In each box there may be numbers. The top number, next to a space ship symbol, shows the number of your ships in that sector. The bottom number, next to a skull, indicates the amount of Seiddab forces in that area.

Moving a ship...

You can move any number of ships during the strategic phase, except those in an Seiddab occupied sector. The message area gives prompts to help you. To move a ship, lock onto it by moving the white highlighter over the sector and press fire. The ship can be moved any number of sectors joined by stargates. Once moved into a sector with a Seiddab in it you can no longer move. To end the ship's movement unlock the highlight by pressing fire. Before the strategic phase begins the Seiddabs move and may launch more ships. You can block their movements by maintaining a majority of ships in each contested sector.

GAME thrills

Reinforcements...
Each time you score 1,000 a new ship appears at Sol, up to 25 new ships may be awarded.

Ending the phase...
You can end the phase on a sector with both Seiddab and your ships present by placing the white highlighter over it and pressing fire. Alternatively, you may wish to enter a sector with only your forces present, enabling you to locate and enter a Seiddab starbase. To do this select the sector by highlighting but do not move any ships. Press fire a second time. In either case you move into...

SPACE COMBAT PHASE

The message screen displays the number of your ships and Seiddabs in the sector. You have up, down, left and right control of your spacecraft. Fire controls your laser. If the sector contains a Seiddab starbase you'll see a small satellite that fires at you. Docking with this enables you to attack the base. However, you can't dock until all the Seiddab cruisers have been destroyed. Entering a stargate (pulsing diamond shape) returns you to the strategic phase.

Each Seiddab cruiser will be preceded by an attack wave (lumel). When you've blasted them all and found a satellite (if there is one) you can dock with (farrl) and enter...

GROUND COMBAT PHASE

Here be Seiddabs (yech!). Your Clone is shown in his two-room spaceship. In one room is the console allowing him to take off again and in the other is the teleport beam-down thing which places you in the Seiddab base. There are various modes of control, as shown on the icon display at the lower left of the screen.

Selection mode...
When fire is depressed (except in laser mode) you can select up (movement mode), right/left (arm mode), down (laser mode). The selected icon will light up until fire is released.

Movement mode...
Standard left, right, up, down to move your Clone around. Pick up objects by walking over them.

Arm mode...
This allows you to manipulate objects in your pocket. To put an object in your pocket or take another, bring the arm fully down. To drop an object lift the arm until it's fully raised. To throw an object move left or right and move the arm fully up.

Laser mode...
Up, down, left, right controls a cursor. You can fire towards the cursor until the weapon runs out. To return to movement mode place the cursor over the Clone. To return to fire mode you need only press fire again with the joystick centred.

Doors and objects...
Most doors open automatically but some need passcards or you may need to do something. The Clone can carry up to three objects in its pockets and hold another.

Clones...
Each ship can create five Clones. If one dies it loses the objects it was carrying. If a ship runs out of Clones and there is another ship in the sector then the second ship comes into use. If not, your return to the strategic phase. To return to a ship you must find a beam-up point. Objects returned to a ship are available to every ship in the fleet (handy, eh?). They're never lost unless a ship is destroyed.

OVERALL STRATEGY

The location of seven of the starbases changes every time the game is played. Occupation of the bases is vital because Seiddab forces may be launched from each base they control. To gain the upper hand you must destroy the Seiddab defences in the Space Combat phase and destroy every base in turn.

CONTROLS

Keys: A,S,D,F,G/up, Z,X,C/down, B,N/left, M, SYM SHFT/right, H,J,K,L/fire, P/pause game, O/continue, Q/quit game during strategic phase. The following options may then be selected: O/continue, S/save current position, J/load a saved position. Basic controls can also be achieved using a 'stick plugged into a Cursor, Kempston or Sinclair interface.

● It's Skull & Crossbones's One-eye. You can tell, he only has one eye (hence the name!)

EXCLUSIVE PLAYABLE DEMO! SKULL & CROSSBONES

● Domark's swashbuckling sword-'em-up (Eh? —Ed)

★ Avast there, me hearties! There be treasure in that there castle, I'll be bound! So, splice the main sail (whatever that means) and prepare yourself for a taste of pirate action in this brilliant playable demo of Tengen's whopping arcade combat game: Skull & Crossbones! Ha-har!

So, don your eye patch, stick a smelly old parrot on your shoulder and prepare to experience, in full, the castle level of Skull & Crossbones. You play either of two pirates, One Eye and Red Dog, on their voyage of discovery. And they're discovering plenty of trouble in the shape of evil opponents who'll hack our brave duo to pieces given the chance. Fight back with the range of combat moves available.

Collectable items such as treasure chests, golden goblets, sacks of coins and other priceless yum-mies can be picked up by walking over them. Skull and crossbone symbols on the ground mark the spot where buried treasure can be dug up; stand over the spot and press fire.

The more valuables and edible items collected, the stronger you become, but fail to pick up treasure and your strength diminishes. And that's about it: swipe, stab, collect, collect, hack, hack, maim, kill. Ideal

SEA BATTLES

● Play Battleships with Atlantis

★ We are sailing, we are sailing, 'cross the seas, home again... But what say we stop off and sink a few enemy troops, just to break up the monotony of traversing the vast (and pretty much boring) oceans? A good idea. And here's the very game to help you do it — Sea Battles, a corking Battleships game for you to play against your Speccy!

Everyone knows how to play Battleships, and Sea Battles isn't very different at all. There's the map (which includes a coastline and an island as well as the sea) with specific coordinates for every sector. Your first job is to place your aircraft carriers, battleships, cruisers and all the other bits and bobs on the map. Having done this, the Speccy does its own planning and away you go. The first one to sink the opposition's entire fleet wins!

There's full playing instructions on-screen, complete with lists of all your forces, so it's just a case of loading up the game and getting on with it! Go on then, be off with you! What? Oh yes, sorry. All the controls are from the keyboard, it's simply a matter of inputting coordinates and hitting a key every so often Breezy, eh?

TEN — YES, TEN!!! — NAUTICAL POP SONGS!

- 10 ● Deep Deep Trouble/Bart Simpson (If your boat sunk you'd go down very deep and be in a lot of trouble)

(Sail! Stop this nonsense at once, be off with you! —Ed)

■ BLAM! There goes K19 (thank heavens the submarine's at J19, eh?)

for a Sunday afternoon, wouldn't you say?

■ Skull & Crossbones from Tengen, published by Dornak, is out now and costs £9.99 on cassette and £14.99 on disk, so make an appointment with your local software purveyor this instant!

CONTROLS

Swashbuckling larks can begin as soon as you know the controls, which are definable on keyboard. The game accepts joysticks as long as they're plugged into Sinclair or Kempston ports. Press C on the opening screen for all control options. Now, here's that all-important movement information...

Without fire pressed:

Up ● move up
Down ● move down
Left ● move left
Right ● move right
Hold fire ● turn around

With fire pressed:

Up ● defend upward
Down ● defend downward
Left ● attack left Right ● defend
Up/left ● attack up

Two special moves are available by holding the direction and then pressing fire:

Left ● lunge

All controls are shown for when your pirate is facing left. The right/left controls reverse when facing right.

ON THE RUN

● Graphically gorgeous arcade adventure from Design Design

★ Ooo 'eck! It's time to scarper, like pretty sharpish, 'cos there's lots of thingies about (and none of them appear keen to 'take tea' with you). It's time to go On the Run in this brili game which features (according to programmers Design Design): Sprites, mushrooms, big logo, frogs, more mushrooms, teeth, fluffy explosions, even more mushrooms, energy mushrooms, bombs, auto collection and (yes) lots and lots of mushrooms. Fungl-oriented game, wouldn't you say?

Y ou're Rick Swift, a trouble shooter hired by the defence department for dangerous missions. And here's a deadly mission: enter a deadly area which has been affected by an accident involving chemical warfare. Strange and weird mutations of plant and animal life in the area have occurred, the animals becoming deadly to the touch (told you it was deadly).

Your mission is like this: contained within the mazes are six flasks of dangerous chemicals which will become active in one hour. You've got to collect them. You're equipped with a jet-pack, enabling you to rapidly move around the mazes. However, this requires energy which depletes if you come into contact with a mutant. Spread throughout the maze are objects which may be used to your advantage, but careful examination is required so keep your peepers peeled.

CONTROLS

Nice and easy. It's all redefinable and explained on-screen. Good eh? (And that means it saves typing it all out, wearing my fingers to the bone... moan, winge, complain —Ed).

SOCCER CUP QUIZMASTER

● It's fun! It's fab! It's a bit to do with footy!

★ Soccer Cup Quizmaster may sound like one of those really naff games shoved out by naff software house. But (but, but), it's not! Which is a blessing, really. No, instead, Soccer Cup Quizmaster is a fabby trivia game that had us all playing and lots of other people around the office leaning over our shoulders saying things like 'Oh, good grief, everyone knows that!' when we got one wrong. So, we munched their heads in. Pacifist society, anyone? No, we don't think so.

T he aim of the game is to progress through the rounds of the cup all the way to the final. The matches are played with two halves, ball possession and other actions are all dependent on the player answering the questions correctly.

Tackling is an important aspect of the game. Press T to stop the ball over one of the two team shirts shown. If you stop it above your team's shirt, you gain possession of the ball and move onto the category stage. Else the opposition is free to pass.

Pressing S stops the ball under the desired category. There are questions on soccer, music, trivia and media. If the category is free, a question is asked. Select your answer within the time limit or you receive a yellow card and the category closes. If you select a closed category the opposition gain a free-kick or penalty.

Answering a question quickly and correctly results in a better shot/pass and earnings are added. As the game progresses the selection speed quickens, needing a faster response to questions, tackling and selection.

CONTROLS

It's all on-screen, really. But, basically, T for tackle, S for select, and 1, 2 and 3 for answer selection.

● Trivia selected in the quiz section so it probably means answering a really tricky Coronation Street question. Erm...

POKEMANIA!

There are plenty of tips on tape this month! Find out what Graham 'Turbo' Mason has lined up for you this month in DJ Nicko's Tips beginning on page 25!

DON'T FORGET! YOUR GAME COULD BE ON THE CRASH POWERTAPE!

(And earn you a bit of dosh!)

Instant fame could be yours if you've written a Speccy game that's up to Powertape standard. Yes, were on the hunt for the best games from the creative talents of CRASH readers. There've been loads of excellent games that have appeared on the tape over the past few months — classics such as Egghead 2, Shuriken, Talking Hedz, Solaris and many, many more! Breaking into the glamorous world ('hem 'hem) of Speccy publishing couldn't be easier! Just send us your game on cassette or disk, with a letter explaining the gameplay, and if it passes the reviewers' tests we'll put it on the Powertape! The address is: NEWSFIELD, CRASH POWERTAPE DEPT, LUDLOW, SHROPSHIRE SY8 1JW. Don't forget to include the Powertape form — see page 19 of this issue — without one we won't even sniff your entry!

PHANTOMAS

● Swingorilliant arcade
adventure!

★ Phantomas, a robot, comes from a long way off — the Andromeda galaxy. It's a very long way off. A very, very, very long way off indeed. So, it'd be worth his while investing in a Young Robot's Railcard for those long expensive journeys by train.

But he doesn't need one! No, not at all. Y'see, he's a scoundrel — a robot programmed to rob, plunder, pillage and dodge paying fares on the train! And now you're Phantomas! Incredible, we know, but true!

Your first objective is to travel to the clone-planet Earth-Gamma and find the mansion using space transporters, planes and helicopters. Once at the mansion you have to be careful to avoid traps, enemies and hidden dangers — including rolling boulders, which are lethal!

The mansion is an impregnable fortress built so that no-one could steal the treasures contained within its walls. There are three main parts: a special base with craft from different periods, the palace itself (a v. dangerous area) and the underground world where the millionaire's assets are locked up in the crypts.

How to rob the treasure (a v. important bit for prospective snatchers): You need to get hold of a strongbox hidden in the palace. To get it you have to throw 36 levers found in the labyrinth of the palace — an alarm sounds when you've achieved this. Then, there are the jewels. They're hidden in the caves in an armour-plated chamber which you can only have access to when you've solved this riddle:

★ No other Speccy mag could do it — but we've got four of Code Masters best-selling titles all together in one brilliant pack! Aren't we fab? Yes! Hurrah! And it's an exclusive item. Oh yes siree, this pack won't be appearing in the shops; so, hold on to it, you've got a great collectors item (and it's a bit of a complete barg, isn't it?). Here's the action!

'If you wish to enter where the jewels are and you have no fear of the dark, seek the sun which blinds all eyes. Advance without rest until you reach the yellow and where the fatigue drains your strength you will receive our reply, as the tree gives its fruit without knowing who will pick it when it is ripe.'

However (ah-ha!), your difficulties do not end there. After entering the chamber the door closes behind you and the only way out is by using the clues of another riddle!

'If from the trap you want to escape, you must fight with ??? and fire, seek the hidden door and with the firing of your strength fresh air you will find.'

PHANTABULOUS CONTROLS

Snatching wares has never been simpler! Use a joystick plugged into a Kempston, Cursor or Sinclair interface. And your keyboard controls are definable (handy, eh?).

- Phantomas, the (apparently) one-legged snatcher leaps into the air (watch out for the lethal thunder cloud)

DIZZY

● The Speccy's most successful hero comes to CRASH!

★ Dizzy the egg, eh? He's a marvel of modern technology and no mistake. The Speccy's most famous character, he's starred in a total of seven — seven!! — games now and here's his first ever eggventure. It's an excellent game which'll have you wobbling with eggcltement and probably a fair bit of eggsasperation (Okay, that's far too silly. You can stop that right now. Bloomin' egg yolks, erm, jokes... —Ed).

Dizzy was eggsporing (Stoppit! —Ed) the haunted forest when he uncovered a mystifying stone slab. Brushing the dirt aside he was able to read (after a great deal of head scratching, 'cos he's a bit thick) the faint inscription, 'The Awawiffovee Potion. 'Bit skill, this,' thought Dizzy, remembering that such a potion could rid the land of athletes foot and destroy the evil wizard, Zaks.

Zaks brought fear to Dizzy's village — he cast spells that turned people old, made people blind and caused it to pour with rain every Sunday when the cricket was on.

- Get down from that hut roof, you small, rotund clot!

Dizzy is determined to stop this — he'd be the hero of the yolk folk if he did!

He read the slab: Fill a potion bottle with cooked Leprechaun's wig, the cloud's silver lining, vampire Dux leather and some troll brew and throw it at Zaks to dissolve his reign.

Dizzy has three lives but eggstira lives (I'm warning you... —Ed) can be collected by finding additional eggs. The bouncy mushrooms can be used to jump higher but watch out for booby traps.

To defeat the wizard you have to light a fire under the cauldron and drop the ingredients into it, then drop the empty flask into the cauldron and it'll be filled by and magically shot out. Smash the flask next to Zaks and you've nailed the bugger.

The game's packed with puzzles, and here's a hint to get you started: Try greasing the old rusty minecart.

CONTROLS

On keys it's Z/walk left, X/walk right, SPACE/jump and ENTER/pick up. To play with a Kempston 'stick, press K to start the game. So, now you know eggactly what you're doing (Right! That 'eggactly' crack was the last straw! Your fired! Booooooooo!! —Ed).

BMX SIMULATOR

● The best two-player racer — ever!!

★ It's got amazing realism — the burns, the bumps and ramps really work! There are seven different courses, each one harder than the last. And the best bit is two players can share the action simultaneously!!

Just leap on your bike and race — It couldn't be simpler, but you'll be amazed how skill you have to be to win! The bumps help you turn, the rough ground slows you down and the hills and different grade surfaces affect you as in real life!

But the most important thing to remember is to keep the pedal power going! And that's it (golly, what a short one — oo no, stop it missus, don't!)

CONTROLS

You can select your control options at the beginning of the game — either joystick or keyboard, and that's definable. The way the controls work is like this: Fire button on/accelerate, fire button off/brake, left/rotate bike left, right/rotate bike right.

FRUIT MACHINE SIMULATOR

● Pretend you're in Las Vegas and win monster portions of dosh!

★ Crack the casino and win a mint! It's true! Except you're not going anywhere near a real casino, and the mint is about as valuable as half a sucked Polo. Never mind, it's a flippin' ace game and fun for all the family. In fact, even granny can play and she'll probably thrash you 'cos old dears are very 'careful' with their stash, aren't they viewers?

● Win values

Things	Reel 1 and 2	All 3 reels
Cherries	20p	40p
Apples	30p	£1
GFI	30p	£1
Bells	30p	£1

Melons	80p	£5

As well as the usual spin-to-win of a fruit machine there are loads of bonus games to play if you beat the

● You've got to spin it to win it — and three melons pays out a fiver! Hurrah!

● This is a hill and you can make good use of their slanty slopes (Erm, y'mean gradients? —Ed). Take the bike about halfway up the slope (at a decent speed) and follow the curve around and you'll whizz off the other side at top speed! Just don't go crashing into an object on the other side...

● Okay, here's where it all begins. It's best to hold down the pedal key even before the 'Go' announcement — you can usually get a head start on your competitor (unless they have the same ideal).

● It's the finishing line! That's why it says 'finish', y'see. As a standard race goes on for a few laps you'll pass this a few times and when the race is over your bike stops here (logical, really).

● These handy road markings indicate the course you're supposed to take. So, on this one you bomb down the starting ramp, go up and around the hill, slide around and down and bomb off down the rest of the course. That is, as long as you don't get stuck at the top!

BMXING!
IT'S AS EASY AS FALLING OFF A BIKE!

● Yeeeeeeeeeek! Loads of obstacles! Pretty nifty bike control is called for here or it's a case of 'Wheeeeeeeeee, splat!' for your rider and his bike — and there isn't a Halfords for miles!

● You haven't got a red and line so don't bother going near the lake. If your speed is too high and you come off the hill, you'll sink (and this isn't really advisable as you'll lose and be heading for dumperdom in this world of BMX).

Cash Bash barrier, including: Cash Box, Nudge Box, Skill Climb, Winning Streak, Holds and Mega-holds and Skill Chances. All your dosh is shown at the top of the display and each player (you can have up to four players) is limited to putting in between 40p and £1.10 per turn. It's all really simple, so all you need do is load up and play!

CONTROLS

It's all on the keyboard! Keys for inserting coins: 1/10p, 2/20p, 3/50p, 0/£1, R/reject, G/give up (in a one-player game), ENTER/when you have finished. Game control: SPACE/start, gamble, ENTER/feature stop, collect, 1/hold reel one, 2/hold reel two, 3/hold reel three, N/compu-nudge, S/stake coin, C/cancel. You can only see these keys when the appropriate light is flashing.

PREVIEWS

● Zip, zip, zip, zip. Wassat? It's us, fast-forwarding into the future of Speccy games. Okay, let's put it on pause, take a few screenshots, takes some notes and present this month's previews!

● DOMINION

We are a Bad Lot. No, not just the CRASH lot, but everyone. The entire population of the planet is useless. Earth's a dumping ground and the human race is mucking the place up. Depressed? You should be, because according to the scenario of Pandora's forthcoming title, Dominion, we've got one chance left to prove ourselves worthy to roam the planet.

There's a race of beings called the Chitona who rule the universe. They're perfect and only exist as forms of pure thought in the 0th Dimension. Now, obviously they can't just pop down to the planet one Wednesday morning and give us a good licking off, so instead they send a Mentor, a life-sustaining probe, around every 35 million years or so. Last time Mentor arrived the dinosaurs were causing trouble so the thing disposed of them pretty sharply allowing us mammals to get on with life. Now Mentor's back and us mammals have screwed the place up. It's not happy.

But, like we said, there's one chance left. The Mentor plucks an average example of the human race, which just happens to be you, and promptly dumps him in an artificial environment and watches what happens. And that's basically it. You start the game without much of a clue what you're supposed to be doing, just get on with whatever you feel like. At the end of the game Mentor assesses your actions and decides whether you should become guardian of the Earth or just blow the place to bits.

Dominion is, essentially, an arcade adventure featuring a range of interactive characters, all created by Mentor for you to investigate and deal with how you see fit. Some are mean and need disposing of and some are good and need your help.

There are plenty of puzzles in there, too. Most of them revolve around the idea of collecting objects and using them to test your intelligence but there are a few that will examine your morals. The programmers aren't saying exactly how the game should be played because it's a game of experience (a bit like life, really).

Yes, it does sound an 'interesting', and indeed, novel game, doesn't it? And if it sounds a bit too much for you, don't worry, it can be played as a shoot-'em-up (which sort of undermines the whole concept, really).

● Ah, a forest. Always get lost in forests. Erm... (help!)

● Okay, so whaddya reckon? Shoot it or invite it in for tea? (I say blast it's brains out —Ed)

it's all looking, then? Particularly groovy. The graphics are incredibly smart, with both colour and detail in abundance and the scrolling really shifts! The screen shows a display of your view (there's hundreds of locations) and also features three windows — one's a menu window which gives you access into loads of other menus, allowing you to perform all manner of actions, and the others are object windows. Add to that a stunning sound track, one of the best we've ever heard on the Speccy, and it looks like Dominion will be a welcome resident in Hitsville when it arrives in a couple of months.

PREVIEW

WACKY RACES

Hi-Tec Software have had a huge run of success with their Hanna Barbera series of games. Indeed, it earned them the coveted title of Best Newcomer of 1990 in the Readers' Poll. Their latest offering seems set to keep up the success rate — it's Wacky Races, one of Hanna Barbera's best cartoon series ever! The game's development is in the hands of Enigma Variations, who are promising a great game, with big, colourful graphics to recreate the feeling of the chaotic cartoon.

Wacky Races stars you as the wonderfully wicked Dick Dastardly (with, no doubt, a bit of 'assistance' from faithful hound Mutley!) The game features six different Wacky Races and your objective is to beat all the other drivers to the finish line. But, there's more to it than just straightforward driving over the scrolly landscape. Because (remember you're Dastardly) you can booby trap the course, causing hell for all the other competitors!

So, there's a bit of driving along and then, when you're far enough ahead, you can take Dastardly out of the car, explore the countryside, pick an object or two and set a trap. With a bit of clever (or should that be 'particularly vindictive') thinking, you should be able to send a racer off the edge of a cliff or create a pile-up along the course.

According to Enigma, Wacky Races is a big game with challenging gameplay and generally much better than your average budget game. Ah yes, say us, but then it's a quid more expensive than your average budget game.

● 'Gnashing, frashing, rashing, schnee, schnee, schnee.' Erm, that was Mutley-ese for 'The driving bit in Wacky Races.' Or something

● 'Outta my way, road hog!', 'Whered'ya get your licence? Off the back of a cornflakes packet?!?' and other such comments abound when you're a Dirt Track Racer

Anyway, it's looking good so far, check out the thrills and spills of Hi-Tec's Wacky Races when it's released at the end of May at £3.99.

DIRT TRACK RACER

Why are there so many driving/racing games around? Just why is everyone addicted to pushing an 'accelerate' button, a 'left' or 'right' turn button (and not very keen on using the brake key)? Could be it something to do with the fact that when we leap in our Minis etc we have to follow the Highway Code and not tear up the countryside? Yes, that's probably it. So, any chance we Spec-players get to roar off at high speeds

● Frustration's going to grab you by the throat and shout (very loudly) 'Guess who?!' when you reach level 3 in Stack Up

● We're bored playing Stack Up with just coloured tiles, so let's use road signs, shall we? (Well, it's novel...)

usually gets the thumbs up.

And here's a natty offering from Zeppelin, out soon at £2.99, that may just have you waving your thumb aloft — it's Dirt Track Racer, a viewed-from-overhead, scrollarama, erm, dirt track racing game (hence the title!).

Let's go through the old racing game checklist, shall we? Okay, cars. Yup, plenty of them — you're driving an All Terrain Vehicle (ATV), you're racing in a championship and need to finish in a decent position to progress (thankfully, you always begin a race in pole position).

Next, tracks. Well, not bad — five different courses (very big and twisty-turny) with varied terrain. The courses are: village, forest, quarry, cross-country and village at night.

Now, add-ons. On the courses are points icons which can be collected, the higher the points value the better a driver you have to be to manoeuvre your ATV to collect 'em. At the end of a track you can use the points to 'buy' things like fuel, repairs, new tyres, turbo charger and loads of things.

And finally, is it any good? Can't say yet, 'cos this is a preview and we don't judge games until they're finished. (But here's a clue: it's simple, it's fun and it's been played most of the morning!)

● STACK UP

We'd like to take a look at two cases... 'Hello, I'm an Amiga and a decent puzzle game on me like Tetris or Puzznic costs £25 each. Okay? Next! 'Hello, I'm a Speccy and a game that combines the brilliance of both Tetris and Puzznic (and has its own subtle blend of flavouring) costs just £2.99!' Which one would be your choice? The Speccy one, of course! So, for all puzzle fanatics, Zeppelin's coming-along-any-moment-now game, Stack Up, should be right smart.

What happens is this: blocks of three tiles fall down the screen into the Stack Up frame. The aim of the game is to stack them so they form horizontal, vertical or diagonal lines of three (or more) tiles of the same colour. When you've got a line of three or more they disintegrate, and so play continues until you've cleared a set number of lines or stacked up the frame so much no more blocks appear (ie, game over).

As you progress through the 22 rounds things start getting a tad complicated, with added hazzards like blocks randomly appearing, only diagonal lines counting, frames start with blocks already positioned, and black blocks which don't disintegrate.

Anyway, you can never tell how good a puzzle game is until you've played it, but we've played it and it's humongously addictive, very colourful and it's not even finished! Roll on review copy, next month!

A Glittering Skip Special! JETMAN COMPO WINNERS

They were brill, they were fab — the entries to Storm's Jetman compo in issue 86 were a hoot! Up for grabs was a Nintendo set with a copy of the Nintendo Solar Jetman game and for ten lucky runners-up were copies of Storm's Saint Dragon on Speccy or a Nintendo Solar Jetman cartridge. All you had to do was to design a new friend or foe for Jetman to mince about in space with and there were some corkers! The whole CRASH team were involved in judging but the final say went to Jetman's comic strip creator John Richardson. John was bowled over with the standard of creativity but obviously thought you lot are the poshest bunch of magazine readers ever and, as he said, "...some of them shouldn't have been allowed near anything as pointy as a pencil!" Here's what the 11 winners came up with...

● The winner! Paul Stevenson from Peterhead, Aberdeenshire, created an entire Jetman strip starring his monster — the automated mother-in-law! Extremely well drawn and very, very funny. Turn to the Jetman strip this month and you can see John's adaptation of her into this month's story! Hurrah!

● Stuart Sell from Ely, Cambridgeshire designed two new characters: Boverblade (Jetman's long lost twin brother, he was sent to another universe at an early age for causing too much bover) and Eyespy (Jetman's friend who always sticks his nose in where it's not wanted, but knows when to hop it — just as well, he's only got one leg!).

● We liked this one a lot! Laurence Jenkins from Bristol came up with War Thung (real name Timothy) and his drawing is spot on for Jetman's humour. Loved the message on laser cannon 'You've been nawtee!!' Excellent...

● Ian Kirk from Bewdley created Plunder Ant, a creature who evolved in Jetman's washing machine after a particularly heavy Y-front washing session. Bleurgh, eh?

● Ciaran McMullan's Slimeball creation is, apparently, a very annoying alien. When he gets bored he takes slime from his body and chucks it around the place. A head-to-head with Cleanbot may be in order, eh?

● Here's a good one — simple but it works well — Jet Dog from Shaun Aggeest who hails from Brixham in Devon. Jet Dog's favorite food is Jetman's trousers and least favorite is Jetty's socks (air freshness most definitely not, ahoy!).

● Only one person came up with a really clever notion for a girlfriend for Jetman and that was Gregg Ellis from Sketty, Swansea. Here's Jetty Bood (just doing the do, no doubt — Ed).

● Created by David Cook from Newcastle-upon-Tyne is Souperman who imagines he can take over the universe with his soup guns. The clot, Souperman comes from the planet Souperior, he's very souperstitious, has souperionic speed and believes in the soupernatural. An act for Novelty Island, perhaps?

● Part robot, part dustbin; all refuse collector! It's Dustbin Man from Kevin Outlaw from Malmesbury, Wiltshire!

● A colourful creation and no mistake! Daniel O'Neill from Liverpool came up with Globo, a baby Bobulale, who eats Tetley Tea Men (those irritating flat-capped spack-heads from the adverts!)

● Gary Martin's Cleanbot has a violent attitude towards mess, once he locates the source of untidiness (usually Jetman) he eliminates it. Great idea, but it means Jetman wouldn't last very long...

DOMARK

Win lots of Gauntlet goodies!

- WIN A SUPER SEGA CONSOLE!
- WIN GAUNTLET ON THE SEGA!
- WIN SPECCY GAUNTLETS AND POSTERS TOO!

Does it bother you that Madonna has little truck with sensible clothes? Does it bother you that Bart Simpson's singles actually manage to chart? Does it bother you that Ethel isn't in EastEnders as much as she used to be? And does it bother you that the Island of Capra has been invaded by a host of demonic creatures? Well, it ruddy well should! It's chaos! Ogres, spooks, trolls, grunts and other such snatch-flinks are swarming over the land causing terror wherever they tread (due to their incredibly smelly feet).

BUT (BUT! BUT!)

Now here's your chance to put the island of Capra to rights and generally save the world from a fate worse than death. Well, actually, it has to be a fate worth than death because Death is scurrying around the island himself! It's all more than anyone can stand, so it's time to throw down the gauntlet and get into the CRASH Smash that is Gauntlet 3 — The Final Quest!

Gauntlet 3 lets you play any of the four original Gauntlet stars (Wizard, Elf, Valkyrie, Barbarian) or any of the new set of heroes who are offering to lend a hand (Lizardman, Rockman, Merman, Iceman), as you set off into the scrolly 3D world of Capra.

Yup, US Gold's latest smasher is pretty much the bee's knees in arcade adventures on the Speccy and to celebrate its trip to corkerdom here's a top prize compo with a stack of Gauntlet goodies up for grabs.

The first prize on offer from US Gold is a brilliant Sega Master System console and — yes! — it comes complete with the original Gauntlet game on cartridge. Plug it all in and it's like having a Gauntlet coin-op in your front room (it's that good!)! Groovy, huh? Also chucked in with the prize is a copy of the the original Speccy Gauntlet and a Gauntlet 3 poster so you can redecorate your room (well, a bit of it anyway). For 20 — 20!! — runners-up there are copies of the original Speccy Gauntlet and a Gauntlet 3 poster. It's fab, isn't it?

THE HOW TO WIN BIT

To be in with a chance of winning one of the fab prizes there's a wordsearch to puzzle over. There are only eight words to find but — because we're feeling in a particularly bad mood today (because the Speccy +2's just blown up) we're not going to tell you what they are.

Well, we'll sort of tell you. The eight words you're looking for are the names of the eight characters you can control in Gauntlet 3. Not Wizard, Valkyrie etc, but their real names. Okay, we'll give you one to start you off: Merlin the Wizard, so the word your searching for is Merlin. Got that? If you don't know the rest, check out the review from issue 87 — they're all in there.

Ring each one, or as many as you can find, fill in the coupon, and send it to: NEWSFIELD, GROOVIN' WITH GAUNTLET COMPO, CRASH, LUDLOW, SHROPSHIRE SY8 1JW. And if the postie hasn't brought your entry here by June 20, there'll be no chance of you Gauntletting around the place, 'cos that's the closing date. Byeeseel!

WAR-CRAZED KIDS?

Dear Lloyd
Last week I was listening to my local radio station. There was a report about computer war games like SWIV, Navy SEALS, Line of Fire, and UN Squadron which made me very annoyed. The people being interviewed were mainly from the older generation who fought during World War II, and I have great respect for what they did and what they went through. But myself, my friends, and my family disagree with what was said. They said that computer games glorify war and that they're turning us into a generation of war-crazed kids.

Us younger generation are open to war and violence by everyday life such as newspapers, television and radio. During the Gulf War nearly every page in newspapers was covered in death and destruction and on the TV, from morning until night, we saw actual war combat such as air raids, tank battles, the carnage of the Baghdad bombshelter, dead Iraqi soldiers, and much, much more. After all that, what harm are a few computer games going to do us? They are only GAMES. And nobody dies from playing computer games (even if the prices are enough to give you a heart attack!).

On the lighter side of things, about the office mouse, I have a 101% way of getting rid of it: you'll need a Jason Donovan cassette and several pairs of ear plugs. Jason's singing is enough to clear any room. Oh, by the way, the ear plugs are for you and all the other hard-working people in the CRASH office.

I hope this letter isn't too political for you to print — even us so-called youngsters have views on these subjects. Carl Welch (aged 14 and proud of being British), Hastings, East Sussex

Good letter, Carl. Of course youngsters have views on important subjects, that's why I'm here, for a start. Don't you think it would have made a better report on the radio if the producers had interviewed Right! Enor (the office mouse, now promoted to 'faithful sidekick') and I are getting a bit peeved. Begging letters just don't get a look-in when it comes to handing out the £40 software voucher. So stop it. I don't care whether a strong magnetic field has just passed over your house causing all your games tapes to be wiped clean, I don't care if your dog has munched all your tapes leaving you no games to play. You may think that under this cold, vicious exterior lies a heart of gold. Well, there isn't. I'm cold and vicious deep down, too. Begging letters are shown the quickest way to trashcanland — you have been warned! Oh, and another thing, some of your handwriting really needs smartening up. Some scrawls look like a couple of spiders have been for a swim in an inkwell and then attempted to perform a Shropshire Four-set square dance over the page. Anyway, I'll just have a quick brew and calm down before I begin sifting through this month's missives (which have mostly been good reading). Letters on all thing Spec-like to: NEWSFIELD, LLOYD MANGRAM'S FORUM, CRASH, LUDLOW, SHROPSHIRE SY8 1JW. There's a £40 software voucher for the best every month!

games players, or at least the software houses to express their views? If the rest of you have any opinions on the subject of the influence of violent games, drop me a line, I'd be interested to hear your views. But for now, Carl grabs the loot in the form of a £40 software voucher! LM

NO SHOPS SHOCK!

Hello, are you there Lloyd? When I bought CRASH Issue 87 I was over the moon to see the new free games, I tore off the tape, ran upstairs and played the games — they were brill. Then I read the mag: even better than the tape, jam-packed full of details on new games. The one thing that spoiled it was that we don't have any shops that sell any full price games or new games like RoboCop 2, NARC, and Navy SEALS. Please help, it's murder playing with the same old games (hint hint). Craig Tucker, Newport, Shropshire

Ah, you blaggard, you're just after the £40 software prize, aren't you? Well, you're not having it because I've already given it away. But, don't despair, Craig, remember you can do your shopping with CRASH, through our mail order pages. You can order any game that's currently available and, with our discount scheme, you'll save a bit of money, too! Can't be bad. LM

FLIPPIN' GREAT!

Dear Lloyd
Three cheers for the Sinclair Spectrum. I haven't written to complain about the Spectrum, I've written to compliment it. I think the Spectrum +2 and +2As are excellent value for money. The graphics are very good considering there is only a 128K memory. There is a wider and more varied selection of games available to the Spectrum than many other computers.

I've owned a +2A for nearly two years and have built up a good collection of games. Another good point is that Spectrum games are reasonably priced compared to what a game might cost for an Amiga. So, to anybody who is thinking about getting a computer, get a Spectrum +2A or +2. The Spectrum also has the best computer magazine to go with it, yes, CRASH.

I'm thinking about getting a printer for my computer. I am told an Amstrad DMP 2000 would be compatible. Please could you tell me how much one would cost and where I could get one. Christopher Durn (age 14), Romsey, Hampshire.

PLAYABILITY COUNTS!

Dear Lloyd
I am a 128K Speccy owner and a reader of CRASH. Most of my friends say graphics are the thing that count on a computer but I say to them it's playability that counts. They think computers were made for graphics! I have a few friends who own 48k Spectrums and they are really disappointed that the great releases like Total Recall and RoboCop 2 did not come on their Spectrum, so I think the software houses should spare a thought for the 48K owners.

Anyway, 1991 seems to be a good year for the Spectrum with the release of Shadow Dancer, Turrican 2, Predator 2 etc... Also I'm glad that Ocean and US Gold have seen sense and produced puzzle games like Chip's Challenge and the brilliant Puzznic. Let's hope there are no more boring soccer games. Jonathan O'Connor, London

Right, in order...

1 • Of course it's the playability that counts in games — what's the point of having a game that looks amazing but plays like a wet haddock? Absolutely none at all. I reckon the best thing you can do is get a wet haddock and give your friends a good slap with it.

2 ● Yes, it is a shame that 48K owners had to miss out on playing Robo 2 and Total Recall. But, I've said it before (and you'll no doubt say it again —Ed), if a complex game can only be programmed successfully on a 128K machine, there's very little point in stripping bits of the gameplay away to cram it into 48K, because it'd probably end up being disappointing. Though, now I've said that, I bet some smart-alec software house is going to prove me wrong. Pih!

3 ● Yes, on the whole, 1991 has been a pretty groovy year so far. 4 ● Puzzle games are making a comeback, expect to see a few more before the end of the year. Likewise for soccer games. Sorry. LM

SPECCYS ARE FAB

Dear Lloyd
Please could you tell my friends how good a Spectrum +2 is, they are boasting about their Nintendos and Segas. I only have one friend who agrees with me because we both have Spectrum +2s. My friend reckons Spectrum graphics are no good at all. What do you think.

Robert Finlayson (age 9), Rosyth, Fife

It's true! Speccy graphics are completely wonderful. Think of all the different styles in which Speccy graphics have been used: cartoon, solid 3D simulations, fast vector graphics, digitised and scrolling all over the shop! I think a good clout with the wet haddock is in order for your friends, don't you? LM

"HOWYADOIN"????

Yo! Lloyd
Howyadoin! I've got some questions and I've chosen you to answer them and if you don't I'll get my best pal Arnold Schwarzenegger on to you like a flash! So on to the questions!

1. One of my favourite games is Exolon, how many % did you give it?
2. Is there a cheat for Exolon? (My mate says there is one, that you write a word into the high score chart and bingo, you have infinite lives! Only he's forgotten the word! Do you know it, or can you find it out? It would be safe if you could!)
3. When will Dizzy 5 be out? (As I'm Dizzy's biggest fan, and it would be dead cool to know!) And will there be a Dizzy 6? So, thanks and over and out to you Earth people!

Luke Palmer (age 12), Bristol, Avon

Erm... Yo, Luke. I'madoin' rather pleasantly, thank you for asking. Your questions, sir...

1 ● Exolon? Ooo, we gave it lots of %. 90 of the things. Yup, 90% in Issue 43, waaay back in 1987.

2 ● The cheat's nothing to do with the high score table. This is how you get infy lives in Exolon: go into redefine keys mode and type ZOBRA. Then hit your brainless chum with a wet haddock (busy month for haddock slapping, isn't it?).

3! There's no official word on Dizzy 5, except that it is happening and will, of course, be 'absolutely brilliant'. There's bound to be a Dizzy 6 but as to when is anyone's guess. LM

AN ABONNEE???

Dear Sirs
I have a problem. When I got my Spectrum I did not have any games. So I went to the shop and found CRASH. But, later I could not find your magazine anymore. Could you please let me know how to become an abonnee? How much it costs?

M Kulesinski, Belgium

Abonnee? Haven't a clue what an abonnee is, let alone know how to become one. If you're talking about becoming a subscriber then all you need do is fill out the subs form and send us your money (currently £24 for European subbers) and we'll post CRASH to you every month (and give you a free game into the bargain!). LM

OH, DEARY ME...

Dear Lloyd,
Just one thing: What game do Teenage Mutant Ninja amphibians like playing with springs? Dunno? Give up? It's Turtle Recall!!! Har, har! (Total Recall, gettth?!).
Steven Donnerly, Clapton, London

Oh dear, somebody isn't at home to Mr Humorous, are they Steven? Here, have a wet haddock, y'clot. Slap! Can anyone do better? If so, send in your miserable 'jokes' to me at the usual address, marking your envelope Wet Haddock (just to confuse the postie).

No girls, you can't have 'em when they're 'young and tender' (that's sweetcorn, you bunch of clots). Sorry about this, Max. Here, have a £40 software voucher

HELP!

Hay! Hay! It's the wuff! Except it's nothing of the sort. It's only Richard Lane from Solihull, West Midlands with this useful bit of help! for Night Shift owners. What's afoot, Rich? 'I just thought that I'd write in to help out anyone who has a 128K computer and the cassette version of Night Shift. On loading it in 128K mode, I found that the block of code after the screen did not want to load in. Assuming that it was faulty, I rewound the tape and tried loading it in 48K mode just to check. It worked! When I came to load it again it still didn't work in 128K mode. But then I found out that if you leave the tape running, or fast forward it to the next block of code (after the block of code after the picture), a 128K version loads in. I hope this helps anyone out who may have been worried that their version was faulty, like I did at first. The 128K version does away with all the awful multi-load stuff and has sound effects and music. 'Ta very much, if you can offer help! or need some help! yourself, just drop me a line at the usual address, marking your envelope Help!

SECRET GAMES BUSTED!

● It's happening! What is? Oooo, everything! The Speccy games world burst into action recently at the annual European Computer Entertainment Show with a host of new announcements being made. If the software houses keep their promises we're in for a rollicking good time for the rest of the year! Check it out...

US Gold have loads of stuff lined up, including coin-op conversions of Final Fight, Mega Twins, G-Loc (now that should be an interesting one to see on the Speccy!) and Bonanza Bros. There's also an adaptation of the Godfather 3 film, a great Indiana Jones game called Fate of Atlantis (but there's no film, sadly), and Out Run Europa (finally!). Plenty more games still to be revealed, so stay tuned!

Ocean have grabbed the biggest licence of the year by snapping up the rights to The Simpsons — don't have a cow until December, though. Also in the pipeline is Toki (shouldn't be long), Wild Wheels

(which is, apparently, football played by competitors driving bumper cars), Smash TV, Darkman (from the spook-like film),

Terminator 2 (from the bash-like film yet to be seen in the UK) and Bruce Willis's latest film, Hudson Hawk, gets the Ocean coding treatment for release in the autumn.

Hi-Tec have signed up with Warner Bros to produce a stack of mega-games based on the Loony Toons characters. Prepare to be dazzled with games starring Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck, Elmer Fudd, Sylvester and Tweety Pie (did you see a pudgy lat?)

Gremlin announced plans for two new labels. There's the budget priced label, called GBH, and the first couple of releases are Footballer of the Year 2 and Impossamole. An educational software label called First Class launches with a game aimed at four to six-year-olds based around The Shoe People.

Imageworks get to grips with the slimey quartet of half-shelled heroes once again this Christmas with the release of Turtles 2 — The Arcade Game, taken from the Konami coin-op. Cowabunga all over again, anyone? Also, Jaleco's coin-op Clisco Heal gets the conversion treatment for a release late this year. It's a turbo-charged race through the hilly streets of San Francisco in a police car and promises fab 3D graphics and the most realistic handling on a computer screen. Well, that's what they say...

Krisalis have another sporting effort in the shape of Manchester United Europe, a sequel to their best-selling Manchester Utd title. The game takes the club into the European Cup arena with all-new in-game features and includes a management and arcade action sections.

Mindscape have signed with the environmentally sound superhero Captain Planet for a Speccy game appearing around September. And they're dead chuffed with their licence to convert Atari's Paperboy 2. The original Paperboy is one of the best-selling Speccy games of all time, so Mindscape are hoping for a repeat performance which'll earn them plenty of dosh.

Domark, who have always been a few plums short of a pudding, revealed their Christmas list which includes conversions of the Atari coin-ops Pitfighter (an action-packed wrestling game), Rampart and the sequel to Hard Drivin'; Race Drivin'. Also in the Domark pipeline is Taito's Super Space Invaders and should be making an appearance around September. Like Domark say 'Space Invaders was a phenomenon in the 1970s...' Unspeakably flappy flares, ahoy!

The SAM Page

● Ooo, nasty. Lots of blood, gore and mutilation of cute 'Creatures'!

Welcome to the SAM Page, CRASH's monthly update on the fun and frolics that SAMmy Fox has been up to. This month she visits the hairdressers for a quick trim and her new single reaches the coveted number 143 slot in the charts (Sorry viewers, NICK ROBERTS has forgotten his pills again —Ed).

SAM SINGS THE BLUES

Blue Alpha Electronics have finally finished the SAM Sound Sampler (three cheers!). It comes in a normal SAM interface box with two quarter-inch jack sockets on the top, one for audio in and one audio out. You get a disk with the essential software on it and a groovy blue microphone all for £49.95.

The big question obviously is: 'Is it any good?'. Well, it's okay.... Here's why. Using the microphone, you can sample any sounds going on around you (or yourself singing 'Ba ba black sheep', or whatever) with reasonable success. The quality of the samples is definitely better than the Spectrum samplers I've used but not as good as those on 16-bit machines. I had more success sampling sounds from a hi-fi. You can control the input volume better and as a result get a better quality sample.

Once you've sampled your sounds, there are various things you can do to them. They can be played at normal, slow or fast speeds, or reversed so they play backwards. That's where the editing facilities stop, though. Many more features should have been included. Things like echo, fade and the option to change the start and end position of the sample section played are common in all other samplers.

Blue Alpha Electronics need to develop this product more if they want it to be a real success. As it is, you'll soon lose interest. Contact Blue Alpha at Ynysforgan Farm, Morriston, Swansea SA6 6QL or phone (0792) 310865.

MIDILY WE ROLL ALONG...

Another SAM product just out is the MIDI Sequencer from Tim Humphries. This allows budding musicians to record their masterpieces digitally and store them on disk to be played whenever they like.

The sequencer acts like a tape recorder for electronic keyboards but without any of the crackle and

● Yooooou wouldn't let it lie...etc.

● Get out your spirit levels and lock away your chives, it's Last!

background noise. You don't have to be a MIDI expert to use it — if you know the ins and outs of your keyboard then you'll find the package simple to use.

When you have recorded your piece you can fiddle with it until it's just right. The sequencer has the facility to quantise, which adjusts the time at which each note is played, correcting any slight mistake you could have made. Pieces of music can be cut and pasted to repeat, for a second verse for example, and 'events' can be edited so you can change particular notes or durations. The SAM MIDI Sequencer costs £39.99 and comes complete with a set of MIDI leads. This is half the price of the equivalent software on an Atari ST or Amiga and does the job just as well! Contact SAM Co at Lakeside, Phoenix Way, Swansea Enterprise Park, Swansea SA7 9EH for more details.

DIY DEMOS!

There are some excellent demos floating about the SAM PD scene at the moment. One that springs to mind is (ahem!) the Nick Roberts SAM Demo Disk 1 (who?). This disk holds four animated demos, some already seen on Fred, but the rest are totally original.

The disk includes Fuzzies (lots of blood and gore), Bart Simpson (having a cow), Speed Demon (racing action) and James Pond (fishy animated demo). If you hadn't already guessed, these demos were written by yours truly. I don't make them out to be the bee's knees in demos but people I've shown them to think they're good so you can get your own copy now! You can get the disk from most PD libraries, look around for the best price.

Contact PD have got some great demos on their latest disk. Mainly written in machine code (clever buggers), they show the SAM can get up to the same sorts of things as more expensive 16-bit computers. The one that impressed me the most was called Balls (ooo, missus!). Lots of spinning balls around the screen in the shape of helicopters, SAM logos and lots more. For all Vic Reeves fans there's a groovy Vic demo on the same disk. What is this fab disk?

Contact PD Pack One, available for a few pounds from: Contact PD, 7 Queens Close, Old Windsor, Berks SL4 2PP.

ZATS INTERESTING!

So you think CRASH doesn't do a good enough job on Coupé coverage, do you? Well, I'm coming around to your house to sort you out then (bash! thump! etc...). Well, for more monthly SAM action check out the fanzine, ZAT.

ZAT comes as a well presented photocopied A5 mag for only 800p. It carries regular sections on programming and reviews all the software coming out for your beloved computer. Interested? Write to: ZAT, PO Box 488, Yellord, Shropshire TF7 4SU for more details.

Look out for yet more Coupé fun and frolics in Issue 90. Send your SAM games, demos, hardware, info etc to: Newsfield, Nick Roberts, SAM PAGE, Crash, Ludlow, Shropshire SY8 1JW.

PLAYING TIPS

TOTAL RECALL

Just in case the groovy map I printed a couple of issues back wasn't enough for you to complete level one of the game then here is the solution from Daniel Bridgland of Crambrook.

three times, Zap-Shoot guard five times, Wham-Shoot gun five times.

R, thump, jump r, walk r over switch and turn in back on, r, wait for laser. Jump r onto blue platform, jump r, turn off switch, jump left, wait for laser, jump left, up lift, l, thump, switch to gun, r, blam. Jump r, wait again, jump r, wait once again, l to edge, wait for last time, run and jump r, jump r, jump r, weik r to finish level 1, phew!

Quick Draw McGraw

On the menu screen, hold down the keys SETUIOP and you should have infinite energy when you start the game.

(John Charles)

Ed the Duck

Type in WILSON as soon as you start level three for a helping hand.

(Bertie Wooster)

St Dragon

At the main menu type in X, then enter the passwords; BLIBLOB for infinite lives SLOBBERS for invincibility. If you type in NESTEGGS on the +3 version it will give you a +3 disk utility that will enable you to make backups, rename and move the St Dragon program from a tape to a disk or from disk to tape, which I think is pretty trendy scrumshus! (Leigh 'Jumping' Jackson)

Hello my little lemon pips, how are we this month, then? Having a good time, are we? Life here in the strange world of CRASH is as joyful as ever. Playing computer games all day really gets to you sometimes (I bet you don't believe me!). Never mind, there's always a simple way of cheering yourself up working here. You just look out of the window at the local kids going through the Newsfield skip. I don't know what they expect to find: rotten jacket potatoes and the drags from Corky's coffee cups are all that's in there. I wonder what their parents say when they come home smelling like the ZZAP!

There (very pongy)! Lots of tantalising tips for you this month. There's the complete solution to Slightly Magic, 88 (yes, 88!) codes on Chips Challenge and a groovy map for all SAM Coupé owners of that great game, SAM Sinks Out! What more could you want (don't answer that)?

PUZZNIC

According to the letters I've been getting recently, many people are stuck on certain screens in the brilliant Puzznic from Ocean. To put you all out of your misery here's the low-down on your requested screens.

■ LEVEL 2, 1-1

Move the top 3 left one. Top 2 left three to match the 2s. Top 1 left four to match 1s. Move top 3 left three to match 3s.

■ LEVEL 2, 1-2

Move middle 2 left one to match all the blocks!

■ LEVEL 2, 1-4

Move the top 3 right one. Top 2 left one. Top 4 right one. Top 1 right four. Move top 3 right one to match 2s and 4s. Move the remaining 3 left two to match the 3s. Move the 4 right four to match the 4s.

■ LEVEL 3, 1-2

Bottom 2 right one. Move the top 2 right one on top of the first to match the 2s. Match the 1s together. Move left 3 right 1 when the lift goes down. As the lift comes up move right 3 left one to match all three 3s together. Move the top 4 right three under the lift to match the 4s.

■ LEVEL 3, 1-3

Move the top 2 right so it lands on the slider going left. Move it off to match with the bottom 2. You have to be quick or the block will be pushed off. Move the left 1 left one to miss the slider. The right 1 right one onto the slider as it goes left and move it off to match with the first 1. Do the same for the 3s but watch out for the jutting out ledge!

■ LEVEL 3, 1-4

Move the right 1 down under the lift. Move the middle 1 over to the other side. Move the left 1 right on top of the first and quickly move the second on top to match all three. You need to get the timing perfect to do this.

■ LEVEL 4, 1-1

Move the top 6 right onto the slider as it goes left. Move it down onto the other 6. Move the 5s together, the top right 1 onto the slider and off to the right between the bottom two 1s. The rest of this screen is straightforward.

■ LEVEL 3, 3-2

Move the left 3 right two and the top

3 left one. As the lift is level with the fourth wall block up, move the right 3 left to match all three blocks together. Repeat this for the other numbers.

THRILLS

What's the best way to catch up on all the great games that appeared on the Spectrum a while back. One: go out and buy every single one and spend a fortune? Two: pop around to your mate's house and nick his copies? Or three: take a trip down to your local software shop and snap up one of the great new compilations? Well, one's only for the stupid, two's only for complete bastards, so it must be three! NICK ROBERTS gives you the low-down on the current hits in compilation land!

BEAT-EM-UPS

Virgin Games ■ £14.99 (cassette only)

Hardly surprising, Fists Of Fury is one for beat-'em-up addicts (violent lot). The games included are Shinobi, The Ninja Warriors, Double Dragon II and Dynamite Dux.

My personal favourite of the bunch has to be Dynamite Dux. The cute graphics used to represent the pair of dynamic ducks and enemies, coupled with the strange weapons to trash them with, makes gameplay real fun. You're armed (literally) with a normal punch but by holding down the fire button you can increase your power to give a mega-blow. Weapons like fire throwers, water cannons and bombs give an interesting result when picked up. Flippin' great!

Ninja action shoy in Shinobi. You're searching for a bunch of kidnapped kids and there are loads of vicious thugs to be disposed of using your feet, fists and shuriken stars. Shinobi is taken from the Sega arcade machine and, thankfully, hasn't lost any of its addictive qualities in the conversion.

All those who were addicted to the original Double Dragon II — The Revenge. You can play either Billy or Jimmy in their quest to avenge the death of their chum Marlon. Like every other game in this pack, it's a scrolling trash-everything-in-sight game with a high level of playability.

The Ninja Warriors has you beating once more. This time you have to control one of the warriors and your only objective is to stop the evil master Greek, Bangler, in his tracks. Sadly, it's the least playable in the pack.

Fists Of Fury — Edition Two is great for beat-'em-uppers. Gamers who want variety will soon get fed up as each game plays more or less the same.

Shinobi: 17/25
Double Dragon II: 20/25
Dynamite Dux: 23/25
The Ninja Warriors: 16/25
OVERALL 76%

ADVENTURE

US Gold ■ £16.32

This compilation is great because of the variety of game styles on offer, each presenting the player with a new challenge. Two of the games, Myth and Vendetta, were CRASH Smashes, so you're definitely getting value for money.

Myth is an arcade adventure game with platform overtones featuring superbly detailed graphics and puzzles that'll have you perplexed for ages. You're faced with such perils as Medusa, Hydra and Thor, the god of thunder. To destroy each one you need to collect the correct weapons, which change from one time zone (level) to the next. Myth is not easily completed but you'll have a good time trying.

I just loved Vendetta when it was first released. Most games of its type have great graphics but are short on gameplay; but that isn't the case here. There's so much in it, you can play for ages and never get fed up. The game is mainly an arcade adventure with objects to find to get you into new locations but there's the added bonus the game stand out from the rest is that there are three men on screen at the same time. It's a lethal game!

System 3 Pack is an excellent compilation, packed with a good variety of top-notch games.

Vendetta: 23/25
Myth: 20/25
Tusker: 18/25
IK+: 17/25
OVERALL 78%

of a car racing level. Once you've found the keys you can jump into the sports car and off you go!

Tusker tackles the arcade adventure style in a different way to the last two games. Instead of each screen being highly detailed and you being able to roam around freely, many of the screens are largely empty and you have to battle through them one at a time. The game uses elements of beat-'em-ups and mixes them with adventure to produce a thoroughly enjoyable game.

The final game in the pack is IK+, a karate beat-'em-up extravaganza. What makes

4 MOST ACTION

Alternative ■ £2.99

For those with a limited budget, there are more compilations on a smaller scale with Alternative Software's 4 Most Action packs. Each pack costs only £2.99 and has four action-packed games on it. Here we've got 4 Most Action and 4 Most Sport.

The Action pack includes Strike Force Cobra, Combat Zone, Gun Boat and Dead Or Alive. Each game doesn't have the same theme like most compilations, either. You get great value for money with a 3D game, wild west shooter, war ship and space shoot-'em-up.

OVERALL 65%

In 4 Most Sports there's Run For Gold, Endzone, Rally Driver and Soccer Boss. What more could the arm chair sports enthusiast want? You can try your hand at track running, American Football, rally driving or even manage your own football team. OVERALL 52%

SHOWTIME

Domark ■ £10.99
(cassette only)

Have you ever fancied taking part in a game show alongside some of the worlds elite hosts, Bob Monkhouse, Paul Daniels, Bob Holness, Jim Bowen and Gordon Burns? Well, It's TV Showtime allows you to do just that with all five games in one pack. The compilation includes Bullseye, The Krypton Factor, Bob's Full House, Every Second Counts and Blockbusters.

Each game follows their shows closely but are graphically dull and most have awful multi-loads. The best of the bunch for graphics and presentation is The Krypton Factor. Each section has to load in separately (even on the 128K machine) but feature the graphics from the show. Unfortunately, one of the best sections of the TV show, the video clip bit, isn't there.

If you are a freaky fan of these game shows and think you can put up with lots of badly digitised graphics and animation, well, this is for you. Normal people look elsewhere.

Bob's Full House: 10/20
Every Second Counts: 11/20
Bullseye: 5/20
The Krypton Factor: 15/20
Blockbusters: 12/20
OVERALL 53%

Domark ■ £14.99 ■ £19.99

Variety abounds in The Winning Team from Domark. The five games offer different gameplay and graphic styles so it's pretty unlikely boredom will come knocking at your door. In the pack are Klax, APB, Escape From The Planet Of The Robot Monsters, Cyberball and Vindicators — all coin-op greats!

Klax is for puzzle wizards. You have to catch tiles as they roll towards you and flip the correct colours into the bins at the bottom of the screen. In true puzzle game style, things are simple to begin with but soon hot up as tiles get faster and more frequent.

One of my favourite games from the arcade has to be All Points Bulletin, or APB to its friends. Full of speeding police cars, miles of roads and donut shops, you just can't help but get addicted. The action's viewed from above and the landscapes scroll by as you drive the squad car, arresting a quota of criminals to succeed. Great fun.

Escape From The Planet Of The Robot Monsters is an absolute corker of a 3D arcade adventure. Playing a one- or two-player game you have to free the captives and destroy all the robot scum. Nice, eh?

Cyberball is a look into the future of American Football. You may have thought it was a tough game now, but played against giant robots things soon start to hot up even further.

Finally, Vindicators puts you in control of an armoured tank. Battle it out with the enemy for points; a frenzy of shoot-'em-up action.

The Winning Team is a fantastic compilation. Get your hands on five addictive games for only around £3 each! What a complete and utter bargain!

Klax: 18/20
APB: 19/20
Robot Monsters: 18/20
Cyberball: 15/20
Vindicators: 16/20
OVERALL 86%

COIN-OP HITS II

US Gold ■ £16.32

Save yourself a stack of 10p's by getting a copy of US Gold's Coin-Op Hits II. The five arcade smashers are Dynasty Wars, Ninja Spirit, Vigilante, Ghouls 'N' Ghosts and Hammerfist.

The outstanding game in the bunch is Ghouls 'N'

Ghosts, which was a 92% Smash when it was first reviewed! It's a platform shoot-'em-up with excellent scrolling scenery and graphics. The action is real additive from the start.

If you like something with a bit more punch, Vigilante may be more up your street. Lots of kicks, punches and general violent behaviour is what it's all about as you battle your way through the street gangs of New York.

Fed up with modern day action? Fighting in a different time is just a load away with Dynasty Wars. The game is played entirely on horseback with the objective being to battle with eight legions of enemy infantry and cavalry to eventually polish off the evil warlord, Thung Chool.

Hammerfist speaks for itself really, doesn't it? More violent action, but this time the setting is in 2215 AD. The world is controlled by holograms and when two of these go wrong all hell breaks loose. You have got to stop the destruction.

Last but definitely not least is Ninja Spirit. This is one for all fans of ninja games with plenty of swordsmen, samurais and wolves to be popped off and of course, oodles of weapons to help you.

Coin-Op Hits II is mainly for beat-'em-up fans with each game having a similar style. Ghouls 'N' Ghosts comes out top of the heap.

Dynasty Wars: 15/20
Vigilante: 16/20
Ghouls 'N' Ghosts: 18/20
Ninja Spirit: 16/20
Hammerfist: 17/20
OVERALL 82%

Code Masters ■ £10.99

Here's a compilation packed full of eggyness! Many people have played one or two of the Dizzy adventures but in the Dizzy Collection you get five of his best romps in one big box!

What makes the Dizzy games so special? Well, playing each adventure is like stepping into a cartoon. They all have excellent graphics and animation and the puzzles are pretty simple, though you'll probably be stumped a few times. Four of the games in the collection are arcade adventures and Fast Food is a Pac-man-style arcade romp.

The Dizzy Collection is a must for anyone who hasn't seen all of the little egg's games. Full of yolk goodness!

Dizzy: 18/20
Treasure Island Dizzy: 19/20
Fantasy World Dizzy: 18/20
Magicaland Dizzy: 19/20
Fast Food: 16/20

MICROSNIPS

Making technology work for you!

Code Masters ■
£2.99

At that sort of price you can't go wrong, really. All the packs are themed but that doesn't mean there's a lack of variety because there's plenty of different game styles to contend with (you would not believe it, etc etc...).

Quattro Combat features Death Stalker, an okay-ish platform game, SAS Combat Sim, a beat-and-blow-'em-up, Ninja Massacre, a bit like Gauntlet with ninjas, and Arcade Flight Sim is what it sounds like, viewed from overhead. OVERALL 56%

Quattro Power features Moto X, a horizontally-viewed motorbike scrambling game, Twin Turbo V8 — yer average racing car game — Pro Powerboat is basically speed on water, and the brilliant ATV Sim, a two-player scrambling game in, erm, ATVs. OVERALL 80%

Quattro Firepower has 3D Star Fighter a space blaster, MIG 29, a flying-into-the-screen blaster, Operation Genship a great, if a little tricky, fly and bomb affair, and the Terra Cognita scrollty shoot-'em-up. OVERALL 72%

Quattro Adventure offers a great selection of platform games, each different enough to provide long-term playability. The titles are: Vampire, Ghost Hunters, Super Robin Hood and Dizzy. OVERALL 85%

Quattro Super Hits gives four action-packed games, including Super Stuntman, an entertaining driving game viewed from above, Super Tank gives you a tank to blast through jungle with, Super Hero is an 3D isometric arcade adventure and KGB Super Spy has you flying around scenery picking up lost scientists! OVERALL 79%

Quattro Sports is probably one of the best packs on offer with: Grand Prix Sim, a well-playable overhead Super

Ubi Soft ■ £14.99
■ £22.99

Take up the challenge from Ubi Soft and add six fab games to your software collection with the Challengers compilation. For your hard earned dosh you get P47 Thunderbolt, Fighter Bomber, Pro Tennis Tour, Rick Dangerous, Carrier Command and Kick Off. A little something for all tastes!

The two games that really stand out have to be Rick Dangerous and Carrier Command. The man with the hat's first adventure was a smash hit the first time it was reviewed, earning 81%. The cartoon style graphics and sound effects were an instant hit with everyone in the CRASH offices and I couldn't rest until I'd completed the game.

Carrier Command is aimed more at the serious games player. You take control of a futuristic aircraft carrier and all the problems that come with it. The mixture of excellent 3D graphics, strategy and shoot-'em-up action will have you playing this game for a long time to come.

Two types of flight simulation are also in the

Sprint effort, Pro Ski Sim, an addictive ski game, Pro Snooker Sim is one of the best snooker sims around, and BMX Sim you've already played, 'cos it's on the Code Masters tape this issue! Hurrah! OVERALL 86%

Quattro Racers is the latest pack around and features BMX 2, Championship Jet Ski, ATV Sim, and BMX Freestyle. Plenty of fast-paced arcade action here and all of them good lilies! OVERALL 89%

pack. P47 is an arcade shoot-'em-up game. The backgrounds scroll horizontally by as you blast the enemy out of the sky. Fighter Bomber puts you into the cockpit of a real plane and lets you take on a battle from the pilots viewpoint in total 3D.

Sports fans won't be disappointed with Challengers, either. There's Pro Tennis Tour and Kick Off to keep them busy. Kick Off is, of course, the football game that caused a storm on the 16-bit machines. Unfortunately the conversion to 8-bit wasn't so successful. Pro Tennis is an average simulation of that well known sport (pity there are no strawberries and cream!).

Challengers is excellent value for money on cassette. But with the disk version costing a staggering £22.99 I would be inclined to stick to cassette. (Erm, Nick, dividing the overall percentage by six games is a bit odd here, isn't it? —Ed) Erm, yeah...

Rick Dangerous: 15/16.66
P47 Thunderbolt: 14/16.66
Carrier Command: 15/16.66
Kick Off: 10/16.66
Pro Tennis Tour: 12/16.66
Fighter Bomber: 13/16.66
OVERALL 79%

Ocean ■ £15.99

There's some scorching hot software on this compilation, and plenty of variety, too — boredom's definitely not a word in Power Up's dictionary. On offer are Altered Beast, Chase HQ, Rainbow Islands, X-Out and Turrican.

I just love playing Rainbow Islands, I could play it until the cows come home (and then, perhaps, a bit more). The cute characters and gameplay is addictive from the start. Taken from the colourful Taito coin-op, the Spectrum version is surprisingly good, capturing all the excitement of the arcade and keeping the excellent graphics and sound too. A corker!

Turrican is another colourful game, and a real good blast. The multitude of weaponry add-ons and variation in the aliens makes it a shoot-'em-up fan's heaven!

Chase HQ is probably the ultimate driving game on the Speccy. You have to chase (no, really?) the criminals in your souped-up sports car and bash them off the road to arrest them. Personally, if I could afford a fast car I wouldn't want to bash it up!

Altered Beast gets right away from laser guns and cars. You are now a dead hero. The daughter of a god has been kidnapped and in an attempt to get her back you have been resurrected. Lots of supernatural action with punches and kicks galore.

X-Out finishes off the compilation with a blast. Lots of space ships, lots of firepower and plenty of joystick wrecking action.

Power Up is an excellent pack, you'll be stuck to your screen for ages!

X-Out: 17/20
Chase HQ: 17/20
Turrican: 18/20
Altered Beast: 18/20
Rainbow Islands: 20/210

- You're the blue chap coming up the screen ready to attack the missile-chucking tank (but we'll dispose of the yellow opposition first, shall we?)

MERCS

US Gold ■ £11.99

- Playing MERCS takes you all over the place. Here we're on board a ship ready to trash the opposition's armoured boat

As the former President of the United States of America toured central Africa on a quest for world peace, he was taken hostage by a group of revolutionaries. What jolly bad luck! Of course, the US can't just send the troops in to rescue him, as it could prompt World War III, so instead they send an elite corps known as the MERCS — professional soldiers trained in anti-terrorist

- Player one launches an attack on the mighty MERCS train, blasting the train's gun emplacements in this vertically scrolling bit

MARK Even though I've not played the coin-op MERCS is based upon, I like it. It's everything a computer game should be: fast, colourful and above all very (very, very) violent. It reminds me of another game from the arcades, Calibre .50, where one or two players battle against a horde of terrorists, with now to their name but a machine gun and a few grenades. This is what always puzzles me about this type of game — the heroes run around with a feeble machine gun while the enemy carry some serious combat weaponry, six-barrel chain guns, M-203 grenade launchers etc. But, back to the game: it's sunshades, ahoy! time because the sprites and backgrounds are very colourful. My only niggle is that while the title tune and inter-level jingles are pretty good, they're too jolly and bouncy for an ass-kicking game. If you want a fast-paced all-action game you need look no further than MERCS. So don't.

tactics. And you're one of them (gulp). Your objective: to rescue the President and stop the rebels taking over the country of Zolula!

It's dead easy to describe MERCS — eight levels of non-stop arcade shoot-'em-up action. That's it! Well, there's a little bit more. Two players can take part simultaneously and each can build up their weaponry from a simple gun to a three-way blaster or flame thrower.

You're going to need that weaponry to attack the many, many, many enemies you encounter on your mission and they come in all shapes and sizes. Rebels run around firing in all directions, megatanks attempt to run you down and, at the end of each level, there are such things as enemy supply trains, battleships and monster Hercules planes that'll make mincemeat out of you if you're not quick enough on the trigger.

You couldn't ask for much more colour in the graphics of MERCS. All the sprites and backgrounds use the block colour method, so some look a bit blocky but it allows loads of colour with very little clash.

Landscapes scroll in all eight directions and the terrain you run over changes from time to time. One minute you're sprinting along a concrete path, the next you could be up to your neck in quick sand or gasping for breath in the middle of a river!

There's so much to be blasted away it'll keep shoot-'em-up fans happy for hours on end. You don't have to stick to shooting the enemy, either. If you are feeling really naughty you can blow up any houses, trees or bushes you see along the way (and sometimes you have to, to clear a path, y'see).

MERCS is a real winner with me. The tune at the beginning may be a little, erm, grating but the rest is excellent. A real cool blaster, and I didn't say it looks like a updated version of Commando once (even if it does).

CRASH JUNE ■ 39

● Prepare to hit it for six as Dawson plays Blyleven in RBI 2

RBI 2

Tengen/Domark ■
£10.99 ■ £14.99

Tengen's latest offering is RBI 2, a sports game that takes you to the baseball field to indulge in the great summery pastime that gets American's very excited.

If the finer points of baseball are as totally incomprehensible to you as they are to me, fear not, 'cos there's a guide entitled Baseball For Idiots And Englishmen included in the package (along with a smart RBI 2 baseball cap, would you believe). The computer version is a one- or two-player game and teams are calls to heel his faithful mutt (let's call him Fido) and heads into action.

Level one takes you, playing both Joe and Fido to Miami airport where the terrorists have been busy wiring up explosives. With a copy of The Sledge Hammer Guide To DIY Bomb Disposal and a pair of ear plugs, Joe strides through the three sections that make up the level, dismantling bombs as he goes.

But it's not that easy. Evil terrorists are waiting to ambush our pal, but using throwing stars, limited ninja magic, sword or Fido's sharp choppers, they can be dealt with. Fido's quite a handy pal to have. With a press of the space bar he'll run ahead and hold a terrorist while you dispose of him.

After battling through the concourse and cargo loading bay, Joe enters a plane and faces a huge, fireball-throwing samurai robot. Beat that and you're into the bonus level, which goes like this: your standing at the bottom of a tower, looking up at its lofty heights. You have an unlimited supply of shuriken stars to lob at the nasty ninjas who leap down and try to plant their size ten espadrilles on your nut.

Later levels take place on a speeding train, in a factory, down the sewers and at a shuttle base, a nasty ● Ah-ha! We can see you, you sneaky ninja, lurking at the bottom there! Fetch, Fido/Rover/whatever your name is...

SHADOW DANCER

US Gold ■ £11.99

Terrorists aren't very nice people, are they viewers? But there are a few square-jawed heroic types who'll stand up to them and give them a taste of their own medicine. Joe Musashi is one of them.

The hero of Shinobi has returned after a long rest to find a terrorist gang have been busy planting bombs in civilian establishments across America. So Joe dons his espadrilles and snazzy white togs, buckles on his razor-sharp katana sword and

NICK Shadow Dancer follows in the footsteps of countless other ninja beat-'em-up games. But Shadow Dancer's novelty is that our hero's brought his dog along. The graphics are mainly monochrome, the odd bit of colour cropping up when you come to large obstacles like walls and oil tankers. The sprites are really well drawn and shaded and the animation's neat. I found the gameplay fun for a while but the novelty of having a dog to help me out soon wore off.

selected from a list of 26 before the game begins.

The field is split into two parts, the outfield and the infield — otherwise known as the diamond, where most of the action takes place. At each corner of the diamond is a base — Home, First, Second and Third — and it's each batter's task to run between the four bases and so score a run.

The game is viewed from behind the batter, facing the pitcher. The pitcher stand on a mound of earth in the centre of the infield and tries to strike the batter out (ie, force him to miss the ball). To this end the player controlling the pitcher can choose the speed and curve of the ball as he winds up the shot.

If the batter hits the ball, the outfielders come into play. It's their job to catch the ball end, as the batter runs around the infield, throw it back to a base and attempt to intercept him.

So there you have it, basically, each player batting and fielding in turn and scoring as many runs as possible. The winning team's success is splashed across the front page of the Baseball News and the losers are laughed off the pitch.

After a spell of okay-ish games, Tengen finally appear to have a hit on their hands — RBI 2 is great! Although I know as much about baseball as I do quantum physics, I picked the game up pretty easily.

The angst felt when my batter whacked the ball outfield and legged it for the next base kept me playing for ages, and the game is particularly good when playing against a chum. Graphically, RBI 2 is excellent, all the character sprites, although tiny, are brilliantly animated, especially the pitcher and batter. The only thing lacking is a decent league system.

Overall, it's pretty fab: playable, entertaining and pleasantly competitive. RBI 2 definitely scores a home run (see how quickly one picks up the terminology)!

guardian awaiting man and dog at the end of each.

Are we bored with ninjas yet? Well, just a bit. I've played so many I'm turning Japanese — if not going slightly orientally mad (yes viewers, he thinks he's a Bonsai tree — Ed). But let's look at the game on its own merits.

Shadow Dancer is a good scrolly beat-'em-up with arcade adventure overtones. It's fast, tough and, above all, playable. The character sprites are all speedy little chaps; especially Joe, who leaps around like a turbo-charged Bruce Lee, while the backgrounds are pleasantly colourful and varied. Yup, I liked this a lot; it's well worth having a go at.

◆ With a well-placed thwack the baseball goes hurtling sky high (and the sound FX when this happens are ear-piercing!)

NICK It's not very often you see a baseball game on the Spectrum. The last one I can remember was, erm, (think, think) World Series Baseball about six years ago and its gameplay wasn't too dissimilar to this (not surprisingly, it's all baseball, isn't it?) What just impressed me about RBI 2 was the slick presentation and excellent music. I don't usually get my toes tapping to Spectrum music but I must admit this was very good, complementing the logo scrolling around the screen perfectly. So, it's all very flashy up front but what about the game? Well, the smallish sprites do the job well and you really get into the swing of things, the close-up display giving a detailed look at the batting and showing where the ball is at all times. There isn't that much you can control in the game, though, other than pitching and batting, you can only control the direction the fielders throw the ball, and that isn't very taxing. But I'm not going to end on a moan 'cos I really enjoyed playing RBI 2 and reckon all sports action fans will too!

Hi-Tec Software ■
£2.99

Train driving in the wild west wasn't all horn honking and potted meat sandwiches, y'know. Getting your passengers and cargo safely to their destination was almost an impossibility. You could be sure that somewhere along the line the train would be attacked by bandits and Indians stealing anything they could lay their hands on. That was until Quick Draw McGraw came onto the scene. Will they dare attack with you as Sheriff McGraw on board?

Quick Draw is played on the top of a moving train with thieves, Indians and general nastiness coming at you from all directions. You're armed only with a pistol and some clever shooting will be needed if you are to survive for long.

Occasionally you'll come across an icon on the side of a carriage. Collecting these will either give you extra points or act as a smart bomb (if you collect a dynamite icon) or give extra energy (an apple).

There's another part to the game, a shooting gallery scene inside one of the carriages. Shooting the baddies and avoiding the goodies is your objective. Get the wrong one and it could be curtains for you.

Quick Draw McGraw is an entertaining budget shoot-'em-up. If you fancy a quick blast to get away from brain boggling games then get out your best trigger finger and have a rootin', tootin' good time!

LOS ANGELES POLICE DEPARTMENT

Players ■ £2.99

In Los Angeles Police Department you're a special agent who's been attached to the LAPD by request of the commissioner of police. Gangs of armed thugs roam the streets and, although the ordinary coppers are powerless to stop them, you're armed with a 9mm Uzi to blow them away.

The game is viewed Operation Wolf style (ie, slow horizontally scrolling) with the thugs popping up from the bottom of the screen or running on from the sides. But wherever they appear from the bad guys take pot shots at you with a variety of weaponry, the result being a heavy dose of lead poisoning followed by death.

The only way to avoid going home in a body bag is to fire back. A floating cursor (your gunsight) can be guided across the screen and a press of the fire button turns the hoods into lead-filled swiss cheese. As the villains bite the concrete they sometimes leave behind handy bonuses, which include extra ammo, First Aid kits and body armour.

Even though LAPD is an Operation Wolf-style shoot-'em-up, it also bears more than a passing resemblance to Predator II. Indeed, I half expected to see the nightmarish dreadlocked head appear at any moment! This game style is getting on now, but LAPD is tough to master and on a budget label is well worth the asking price.

'B'right eyes, burning like fire... Yes, we all had a good sing song when Lop Ears came into the office. It's one wicked game and comes complete with a soppy story! Poor little Lop Ears the rabbit went out playing and strayed too far from home. As he tried to make his way back, he discovered a new bypass had been built, blocking his route (awwww!). Now his only hope is the help you can give him.

Lop Ears is in the classic arcade adventure style. The little rabbit bounds about the screen and you have to collect and mix objects and use them in the correct locations to progress.

Lop Ears isn't welcome in the part of the woods he's exploring and the natives keep trying to turn him into rabbit pie. Dogs, squirrels, weasels and birds are all out to make life a misery but luckily he can replenish his energy by munching carrots.

The puzzles seem impossible at first but the more objects you discover, the easier it gets. Common sense is the best way to progress: if you have a tin box and an opener what do you do with it? Open it up, of course!

Every screen is packed with colourful graphics and lots of animation (and looks a bit Dizzy-like, but then I suppose there's only a couple of ways you can draw a tree on the Spectrum!). Lop Ears is a great game that'll keep you occupied for days, definitely one for all mappers!

TORNADO ECR

Code Masters ■
£2.99

This is air-to-air combat with a difference. You're strapped into the most sophisticated of British fighters armed with laser-sighted weapons. Your enemies, on the other hand, are a strange bunch of planes. They range from Heinkel He-111 (quite old planes) to the latest in aircraft technology.

I haven't a clue what time zone I'm supposed to be in but there isn't the time to worry when the onslaught of bullets starts! Each plane is very well drawn and has a good splattering of colour.

This is a sort of Kamikaze with bigger and better graphics but there's not much to do. You fire continuously in an attempt to shoot down 20 enemy planes but usually get blown out of the sky in the first couple of seconds! The clouds that fly by don't help matters much. They're usually the size of two planes stuck together and you can't help but fly through them, blocking any view of the action you may have had.

Tornado ECR's presentation is great: animated balloons float up the screen to make up the menu and you can flick through all the enemy plane graphics at the touch of a button. In the end, though, it's an average shoot-'em-up. Fans of this type of game will find it great fun, and excellent value at £2.99

escape from the planet of the ROBOT MONSTERS

Enigma Variations
■ SAM Coupé ■
£14.99

Disaster has struck on Planet X! The human colonists have been captured by an evil race of aliens — the Reptilions — and are being forced to create an army of killer robots with which the Reptilions plan to destroy Earth!

But help is at hand with the arrival of Jake and Duke, two tough, square-jawed interplanetary SWAT men. One or two players choose a character and are briefed on their mission: rescue the hostages, destroy the Reptilions and rescue the beautiful Professor Sarah.

Belum. Planet X is a big place so is split up into many levels, filled with robotic guards.

Each level is split into several sections, each part accessed by ladders and escalators. There are several types of guard including the infamous Weetabix character, but both Jake and Duke possess a ray gun and a limited supply of smart bombs, so get blasting. As guards are destroyed glowing gems appear — collect these for increased ray power.

Lockers can be shot to reveal such goodies as food, energy and smart bombs.

But it's the hostages you're here for, and these are usually found slaving away at computer terminals. Just touch them and they'll be transported to your ship for a hefty end-of-level points bonus.

At regular intervals you meet up with a Reptillon, big, dinosaur-type creatures that take a lot of hits to kill. But to save the lovely Prof and the Earth, you must battle on.

When EFTPTM first appeared about a year ago on the Speccy, I played it to death, and now the SAM game is here, more late nights are on the cards. Graphically, the game is identical to the 16-bit versions: colourful and beautifully defined characters leg around the screen being very anti-social indeed.

The control method is a little on the frustrating side: the character spins when the joystick is moved left or right and it takes a bit of practice to get him heading in the right direction. For the first few games you end up giving the robot guards lessons in breakdancing. If you own a SAM this game is an essential purchase.

NICK Escape From The Planet Of The Robot Monsters is the first of a run of games for the SAM using the excellent Atari ST graphics and Spectrum code. This creates a game that wavers in quality from one second to the next. For example, the introduction screens are all from the Spectrum, with the usual colour clash and shading you would expect. Moving further into the game, you have sprites and backgrounds that look like they have come from the ST and in between levels you have ST character graphics. The game itself is excellent, full of action and adventure, but the control method takes some getting used to.

KLAX

Enigma Variations
■ SAM Coupé ■
£14.99

It's the Nineties and it's time for... another SAM game! The concept of Klax is simple. Different coloured tiles roll towards you and you have to catch them on your paddle and flip them into one of five bins.

● Oh dear — we're making a bit of a mess of this Klax wave. Not a suitable stack in sight

The idea is to make a set number of Klaxes from the tiles, where a Klax is a stack of like-coloured tiles in a horizontal, vertical or diagonal line. Once you've made a Klax, these tiles disappear and the others move down. Simple, eh?

The basic levels of the game, where you must make three-high Klaxes, are easy to complete. It doesn't stay easy for long, though. On later levels you have to attempt a large X, five in a row or long diagonals. For extra bonus points you can set up the tiles to cause a chain reaction of Klaxes (and that's really difficult).

The paddle can hold a

MARK This game makes me want to throw my computer out of the nearest window 'cause it's so tough! Frustration certainly rules for the first few attempts, and these are just the easy-peasy, lemon-squeazy levels. But in time you calm down a bit and start to enjoy the game, although it's hard to believe that such a simple concept as collecting tiles can cause most people to invent new swear words (I've added another two to my vocabulary today). Graphics are great, very colourful, though sometimes you almost need to wear shades. Flipping great all the same.

maximum of five tiles at a time. After this they just drop off the edge and put the drop meter up. Depending on the level, you're allowed a set number of drops before you get the dreaded GAME OVER sign.

As well as multi-coloured tiles spinning towards you there are also wild tiles that flash on and off. These can be used to complete a Klax of any colour — or if you are really clever, you can drop one to complete two Klaxes at the same time!

Klax is one of those games you either love or hate — I love it. All puzzle game freaks will find it a great challenge but it can get very annoying when things start to go wrong.

Every few waves the background graphics change to another excellent scene (converted from the ST, no doubt) to add a bit of variety.

The tune and sound effects are pretty neat, too.

This is a great version of Klax, and just so all SAM owners can brag to their friends, it looks and plays just like the Atari ST and Amiga games!

THE FAMOUS FIVE

■ £10.99

Good grief! A real, honest to goodness, commercial text/graphics adventure! Hurrah! Who needs those fancy film and arcade licences, eh? Not when you've got Enid Blyton on your side, chaps. Oh, and the Famous Five, of course. Five on a Treasure Island is an engaging adventure that includes some intriguing character handling, using a system called Worldscape. The game begins when Julian, Anne and Dick travel to Uncle Quentin and Aunt Fanny's house (what was Enid thinking of when she created these characters?!). This is the very first Five adventure so they've yet to meet George, the tomboy girl, and her dog, Timmy. From there they worm their way onto treasure island, full of stereotyped villains and secret caves.

The game world is dynamic which means events move on while you wait. I'm not a big fan of this type of wandering character system; it doesn't present realism — just an impression of a game full of aimless manic zombies.

You can TELL and SAY things to characters as well as ASKING them ABOUT things. Characters have their own special facets so you can ask a character to perform an action you might not be capable of.

You can also BECOME any of the Famous Five (except the dog). Each character has their own advantages: Julian is strong while George is the best swimmer. You can even split the Five up to explore several directions at once and this is essential to solve some of the problems.

The parser is up to modern standards with linked sentences using AND, THEN and commas. Prepositions can be used to alter the meaning of verbs, and group commands such as ALL and EVERYTHING are included.

During play, the screen is divided into two sections. The upper portion of the screen contains all descriptions, messages and graphics, which pop up for selected locations. They're very well drawn and appear instantly on-screen — pretty good going for graphics of this complexity. The lower section is the text input area.

Highlights and criticisms fall upon the parser. When you can't examine something, the word EXAM is automatically displayed, ready for you to EXAMine something else — very thoughtful and user-friendly. But the parser doesn't understand some basic words included in the location descriptions although memory restrictions may be a factor here.

Criticisms apart, this is a well produced game with lots of imaginative production techniques. Let's hope there are some more Famous Five games on the way, eh?

● It's Jocky on the oche (a might tubby, isn't he!)

● Eh! Grand, super, smashing! You get nothing for two in a bed, not in this game! Jim Bowen just cracks us up!

Zeppelin Games ■
£2.99

Everybody's favourite hero comes to life on the Spectrum once again. This time ol' Jocky Wilson has got six games on offer, all stuck up his shirt at the same time by the look of his character in the game!

You can play normal 501 darts or choose from five other games for one or two players. Football is a where each player has to hit the bull to start. Once they've chosen a number they must aim for the doubles. Each double hit scores a goal. The first to ten goals is the winner.

In Dart Bowls, the first player throws a jack, then both players throw three darts. The nearer they come to the jack, the more points you score.

Scram is another fun game where one player is a stopper and one a scorer. When a stopper hits a number that sector is wiped out. The scorer then has to score as much as possible with the remaining board. This continues until the whole board has been stopped, then players swap roles.

Ten Dart Century is my favourite of the games. Each player has ten darts and has to score as close to 100 as possible without going over. If a dart misses the board the score is reset to zero. This is trickier than it sounds.

Shanghai is the last game. The computer selects a sector of the board to aim at. You can then only score in that sector and the one with the highest points after ten sectors is the winner.

Jocky Wilson's Darts Compendium makes a refreshing change from the usual boring darts games. The graphics on the board are as interesting as they possibly can be but single players get an extra bonus of playing against a cartoon Jacky!

MERCENARY

FROST BYTE

• You're the Kreezer and the Kreezer is that yellow thingy on the left-hand side.

Micro Value ■ £2.99
■ Rerelease

Cosmia was quite a nice planet to live on once. That was before the Kreezers were forced to share their lands with a group of ghoulish monsters. They've taken over the caverns deep inside the planet and have captured your friends. Your skills are tested to the full as you attempt to rescue your fellow Kreezers in Frost Byte! So, what's a Kreezer? Well, it's a sort of slinky spring thing that turns over and over on itself as you move along. This thingy can jump and fire and it's powers increased by collecting special diamond-shaped sweets. As well as collecting sweets to increase jump power, spring platforms help you reach dizzy heights and mattresses offer a safe landing back on the ground.

Frost Byte may be years old but it can still give the newer games a run for their money. There's plenty of colour and animation in the game and each screen has something new to be zapped and more platforms to be reached. Lots of arcade action and a totally original main character!

Novagen ■ £2.99 ■
Rerelease

In the last eight years or so there have been very few original games but one stands out in my mind as the best. That game is Mercenary, a speedy vector graphics 'future sim'. No-one who's played this game could have failed to be pulled into it. When I first bought it, many aeons ago, I played it for months, very often for ten or 12 hours a day.

For those who need a reminder of the plot: you're a 21st century mercenary who, through battle damage, has been forced to land on the planet Targ. Most of the planet's inhabitants have wiped themselves out in a massive war, but the Mechanolds and the Palyars are still at each others throats — and you're in the middle of the conflict. All you want to do is go home, but you can't do that until you find a spaceworthy ship. But it doesn't hurt to do a bit of freelance work while you are stranded, and you're offered cash to carry out certain tasks.

Your only companion is Benson, a computer that goes everywhere with you and fills you in on the locations that you visit and is a communicator between you and the Palyars and Mechanolds.

It's a difficult game to complete — but the testability's high because every minute is enthralling. Many people have escaped from Targ but I never quite made it. I got very close to finding the interstellar craft but couldn't pin-point it.

Playing Mercenary again brought back a lot of memories. Five or six years have passed since I first tried to escape from Targ and the game is as brilliant now as it was then. A Smash and no mistake.

ARKANOID REVENGE OF DOH

The Hit Squad ■
£2.99 ■ Rerelease

The Break Out game style has got to be one of the most cloned ever. Arkanoid put it on the map, though, and this is the sequel to the Spectrum classic. There is a storyline but it's pointless, and besides, there can't be anyone out there who hasn't played a game like this once in their life. However,

• Find the world's oldest game, tart it up with snazzy-like graphics and there you have it — Revenge of Doh (it's ancient, and we love it!)

nothing can beat this excellent version — it's smart!

The slick presentation and graphics make Doh instantly attractive. What makes the gameplay so special is the variety of icons you can collect: some provide mega-weapons and others have an effect on your ball, doubling the speed or slowing everything right down.

The first few screens are quite simple to complete, it's when you advance to later levels you need sedation tablets to prevent your head exploding! Things can get very frustrating indeed!

Arkanoid — The Revenge of Doh is the best Break Out game ever — it can't be bettered (dangerous thing to say, Nick — Ed). No Spectrum software collection is complete without this game so get it (if you haven't already!).

THE HUNT FOR RED OCTOBER

● Bloppy rugby players and huge plugs for shops that sell software? A definite 32 percent, wouldn't you agree?

INTERNATIONAL rugby

Micro Value ■ £2.99
■ Rerelease

Rugby Union is a popular sport. Very popular judging by the amount of budget games that have appeared recently. The latest is International Rugby, a one- or two-player action-packed game for all the family (he says sarcastically).

The first task is to ramble through the obligatory option screen, select control methods, amount of players, difficulty level (easy or hard) and either practice or championship games. If you choose practice you enter straight into the match, but in championship mode you can select one of five countries (England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland or France) and battle it out on a league table.

The game is split into two 40-minute halves with the normal rugby rules applying (ie, kick the frag out of opposing players and score tries). The player under control is highlighted, so there's no risk that your samey-looking figures will be confused with each other.

The problem is, it's not very good: small, stick-like players hobble around a green expanse of backdrop. Okay, there's an interest factor with the league table if playing against a mate, but very soon even this becomes tiresome. International Rugby was originally published six years ago and today it can't compete with other sports games.

Grandslam ■ £9.99
■ £14.99

There have been two The Hunt for Red October games. The first was based solely on the excellent Tom Clancey novel (essential reading), while this latest offering is based on the recent Sean Connery movie (essential viewing).

The story goes something like this: Ramius (Connery in the movie) is the commander of Russia's most powerful submarine, the Typhoon class Red October. But Ramius is disillusioned with the Russian way of life so plans to defect with the submarine, and has help from the west in the guise of CIA operative Jack Ryan.

The game is split into six sections. The first sees you guiding Ryan, who's dangling from a helicopter, onto the conning tower of the USS Dallas.

When Ryan has landed safely, the scene shifts to a horizontally scrolling undersea section where Ramius has to guide the Red October past Russian subs, depth charges and guided missiles and out to the open sea. You have depth charges, torpedoes and homing missiles to return fire, and a range of bonus items can be picked up on the way.

Once in the open ocean Ryan can transfer from the Dallas to the Red October via a mini-sub. This section isn't quite as finicky as the helicopter drop — you can hit the submarine slightly off target and still survive.

The next section quickly follows with you waggling the joystick like mad to open an airlock. Fail to do so and you'll soon be waterlogged. Level five is another 'blast your way through the Rusky submarines' section as the Red October heads for the good old US of A. But disaster strikes when the chef decides to be a mutineer and attempts to detonate the nuclear warheads the sub carries, so you must stop him in a Cabal-style shooting scene.

And there you have it. Sounds packed, doesn't it? Unfortunately, although there seems to be lots to do, the gameplay is pretty shallow. I mean, it's not crap or anything, just a bit easy.

However, the graphics are very good — the title screens look to be digitised and promise a great deal. The sprites aren't digitised, of course, but they're colourful, fast moving and well drawn. It's a real shame the gameplay doesn't measure up to the graphics because both the book and the movie are first class.

If you're looking for something simple and entertaining, this could be it but so much more could have been achieved with this licence.

NICK I haven't seen the film but I've seen Dastar No, starring Sean Connery — that's near enough (no it isn't — Ed). Graphically this is an excellent game. Right from the beginning, with the digitised pictures from the film, you're given lots of colour and great animation. It's a pity there isn't the gameplay to go with it. The main part of the game is the sub speeding along in a shoot-'em-up situation. You fire lots of torpedoes and hope you'll blow away the enemies. This makes a reasonable shoot-'em-up but nothing earth shattering. In between these levels are sub-games (no bof); these are really well done but simple to complete.

ROAR OFF WITH AN ATV FROM ZEPPELIN!

- ★ WIN! A REMOTE-CONTROLLED BUGGY!
- ★ WIN! A YEAR'S SUPPLY OF ZEPPELIN & IMPULZE GAMES!

★ Zeppelin. What sort of name for a groovy games company is that? Hardly anything rhymes with it so you can't invent a snappy catchline for it. Well, erm, the only thing we could think of that rhymes with Zeppelin was 'metal pin', and there's not a lot you can do with that. Is there? 'Zeppelin — games more fun than a metal pin.' See? Useless. Anyway, that's not what we're here to talk about.

No, instead we're here to get pretty ecstatic about Zeppelin's kickin' games heading your way.

Games like Stack Up, the groovy puzzle game that'll have your brains doing back-flips, and Dirt Track Racer, the action-packed race game featuring All Terrain Vehicles! So, let's get ecstatic, shall we? Yayyyy! Hurrah! Whoooooppppeeee...!

RIGHT, THAT'S ENOUGH

Ahem, if you flick to the preview pages you can catch a glimpse of those two games (they're complete bargs at £2.99,

- Here it is! This is what you could be playing with if you're the lucky winner! Well, even if it's not this one, it'll be one like it. Still worth £150 and generally really fantastic. Okay?

shoppers). Not only do Zeppelin, and for that matter Zeppelin's full price software label, Impulze, have smart games but the people behind it are great too! It's true!

Take Darren Jobling (one of Zepp's bosses) for instance. He's great, and sounds just like Vic Reeves (except Darren doesn't have a Big Night Out — well, not one he's admitting to). What's going on then, Darren?

'Yooooou would not believeee what's going on round the back there!' No, really? 'There's a great remote-controlled ATV-type buggy sort of arrangement and it's just waiting to be won by some lucky CRASH reader!' Blimey! Hurrah, eh?

INDEED, 'HURRAH!'

So, there we have it. This is a brilliant Zeppelin/Impulze compo with £150's (or possibly more) worth of remote-controlled buggies up for grabs. And that's not all! There are five fantastic runners-up prizes to be won, too! Five runners-up will each win a year's subscription to all Zeppelin's and Impulze's new releases! Cor! So, whenever Zeppelin or Impulze release a game, they'll slam one in the post to you!

Games planned include not only the two we're previewing this month but forthcoming titles such as Neighbours, Match of the Day and Round the Bend! So, according to their current schedule, a runner-up stands to win around £100's worth of games throughout the year. Super!

AND THIS IS HOW YOU DO IT

We've got a spot the difference puzzle for you to ponder over.
